

Work of Better Business Bureau Told CC Group

How the Better Business Bureau is striving to eliminate sharp business practices and misleading advertising, was told 50 persons who attended the regular monthly breakfast meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday at the TWCA.

Robert Gailey of the Long Beach Better Business Bureau was the speaker and in a 30-minute talk he sketched the history of the organization and its development over the past 40 years. He emphasized that the Bureau is supported entirely by private funds and has succeeded in becoming a potent factor in improving the business ethics of the country through its 200 branches.

Gailey was introduced by Dr. Gerald Eastham, first vice-president of the Torrance Chamber, who presided at the meeting. Dr. Eastham also presided at the meeting of the Board of

Torrance Elementary Class Shows Drawings

Students in Mrs. Lucille Hardcastle's eighth grade class at Torrance Elementary School are working on a project, "Experimenting with Art," in which class members make drawing, including modernistic and cloth designs and portraits.

Those having their work displayed on school bulletin boards include Michael Mullen, Pedro Moreno, David Hill, Barbara Anderson, Tommy Kling, Shirley Sauve, Carole Moore, Sharon Stephenson, Mary Margaret Blount, Marsha Tappin, Diane Wieker, Matthew Sommerville, and Joyce Gordon.

Directors held Monday afternoon although President Paul Loranger was present at both gatherings but suffering from the effects of a cold contracted on his recent visit to Chicago.

Serra Plans Senior Play

The Senior Class of Serra High School will present the first class play in the school's history on Feb. 16 and 19, when the curtain rings up on "The Hasty Heart."

Under the direction of Arthur Williams, the cast includes Dennis Vandal, Roger Karels, Bob Krause, Richard Moser, and Frank Mahler. The leading man, Jim Reitas, will play opposite his sister, Judy.

Frank Zangar and Paul Williamson have supporting roles. Assistant student director is Tony Engle.

"The Hasty Heart" will be presented at St. Anthony's Parish Hall in Gardena. Tickets will be on sale at 50 cents for students, $1 for adults.
